

Hindus in Britain (Communities in Britain)

Explores the different communities that create Britain's multicultural society. Supports the PSHE/Citizenship curriculum at KS 2 and 3 as well as RE studies. Features quotes from community members and specially commissioned photographs

Hindu Traditions in Contemporary British Communities the study of contemporary British Hindu movements is important in understanding Islam is the second largest religion in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, with results from the United Kingdom Census 2011 giving the UK Muslim population in 2011 largest groups of British Muslims are Pakistanis and Bangladeshis. Smaller groups are Indians, Arabs, Kurds, Turks and Africans. With just two days to go before Britain goes into polls, prime minister David Cameron is going all out to appease the Indian Hindu community in On employment, British Indians had among the highest rates of hourly pay, above the national average and the white British community, while Not a British politician, but Narendra Modi, the prime minister of India. . British Indians are barely 2 per cent of the population, but 12 per cent The spreadsheet below presents estimates of the size of the Hindu, Muslim and Sikh communities in England and Wales before the Censuses of 20 The divergence between the social mobility of the Indian and Pakistani communities in the UK is one of the most intriguing findings of the The Hindu Forum of Britain (HFB) is an organization that represents over 300 Hindu groups throughout the United Kingdom.[1] It provides member organizations an opportunity to mobilize their efforts in informing public policy and assists in the development of community projects Punjabi diaspora British Pakistanis British Indians British Mirpuris. British Punjabis are British citizens or residents who are of Punjabi origin. They originate from the Punjab region of Pakistan and India. Punjabis are a major sub-group of the British Pakistani and British Indian communities, representing the largest Throughout the UK, there are about 135 Hindu temples conducting regular worship. There are significant Hindu communities to be found in Leicester, London (Wembley, Southall, and Harrow), Coventry, the West Midlands, Bradford, Preston, and Greater Manchester, with smaller communities in many other towns and cities. Hindu communities have been represented in local political environments in the UK by multiple organizations, from caste groups to temple What are the origins of the Hindu communities in Britain? How did the community change and develop during the 20th Century? What role has the British Hindu Understanding the Hindus in Britain. 13. Summary of census data. 13. Contribution of Hindu communities to British society. 19. Immigration and integration. 22. Community Religions Project Research Papers. (New Series). 2. A Report on Hinduism in Britain. Ursula King, 1984. A series of research papers produced in Runnymede Community Studies aim to move beyond categorisations as broad British Hindus form the third largest faith-based community in Britain, yet we